THE BATTLE OF ANTIETAM

Interesting Reminiscences of This Famous Encounter

BY ONE WHO WAS IN THE FIGHT

Description of that Bloody Encounter Forty Years Ago and the Recent Visit of the State Battlefield Commission to the Scene.

TWO IMPORTANT BATTLES COMPARED

[Col. Austin Curtin, a member of the Antietam Battlefield Commission, has written the following articles for this paper and they will be published in installments. They will no doubt be read with intense interest by our readers, especially by the old soldiers.—Editor.]

While Gettysburg and its surroundings has been visited by thousands and its magnificently marked Battle Field has been studied with profit by all classes of people and has been written about in many papers and Magazines, it is seldom anything is written or said about a Battle Field of equal interest and on which some of the most desperate fighting was done that was done during the whole war. Certainly to my knowledge there has been nothing written about it which has appeared in any paper published in Centre, Co., so with as much space as can be allowed me in your Paper I will endeavor to give something of my impressions of the Field now, and some history of that great conflict which occurred on the 17th, day of Sept. 1862. Will also say something of the sharp and decisive fight that occurred at South Mountain on Sunday the 14th, of Sept. 1862, only three days before and only eight miles away, where on that day (the 14th) Gen'l Burnside in Command of the right wing of the Army of the Potomac having under him the Corps of Gen'l Reno (the Ninth) and Gen'l Hooker the (Third) pushed up the mountain and in the face of large odds, and in a desperate fight drove the enemy, which was composed of Major General Hill's Division of Longstreet's Corps and which was reinforced in a very short time by nearly all of Longstreet's Corps, but was obliged to retreat down the Mountain before the victorious troops of Burnside and Franklin. In that fight the gallant Gen'l Reno was killed soon after dark while leading the last charge of the then victorious Army and a very beautiful monument stands in his honor at the very top of the Mountain, where it is thought he fell. The monument was erected Sept. 14th, 1889, by the Ninth Corps Association, at which time Gen'l Hartanft was present and took part in the services of dedication. When morning dawned on the 15th, the troops were put in line of march following the enemy and soon came up to him at or near Sharpsburg, and where the right of the army began some skirmishing with him, but not until the 17th, did the Battle which has now gone into history, as a desperate one, begin.

The writer was detailed by the Gen'l in command of the Division to which his Regiment belonged (Gen'l O. B. Wilcox) to bury the dead and send away the wounded of the Division at South Mountain and was left with a large number of the Command to do so, but being unable to complete the work in time (the Rebel dead had also to be buried) he had to go into the town of Middletown and the City of Frederick, and secure assistance from the citizens. When the task was completed and all abandoned arms sent to the city of Frederick, the march was taken for the Army which had gone forward and was reached just in time to report the detail attended to, and fall in places for the advance at Antietam, which occurred soon after.

But the right had been engaged some time before the left, Burnsides wing advanced (Hooker had been taken from it and placed on the then right) and now our part of the army was the left, which crossed the Creek at what is now historic Burnside's Bridge. After several attempts had been made to cross it the 51st, P. V., and the 51st, N. Y., were ordered to charge it. But first Gen'l Rodman of the Corps had crossed the creek below by fording which attracted the attention of the enemy to a certain extent and allowed the Reg'ts above named more of a chance. Yet the charge was a desperate one against many odds. The Rebels on the high hills very close to the bridge had all the natural advantages, stone fences and every advantage that could be had, yet in the face of all that, our gallant men went forward and drove them back. Longstreet in his report says he had six Brigades under Gen'l D. R. Jones in front of the troops attacking the Bridge and the hills beyond, so it was terrible odds the men of our Corps had to face. Soon after the Bridge was carried the Brigade of the 9th Corps to which our Regiment (the 45th, P. V.,) belonged was ordered to advance and did so promptly and when across the Bridge filed a little to the left and then advanced up the steepest hill that was anywhere in the front, Gen'l Thomas Welsh Commander of our Reg't commanded the Brigade, Lt. Col. John I. Curtin the Reg't, the other Regiments composing the Brigade the 46th, N. Y., all German and the 100th, P. V. The 45th held the right of the Brigade and another Brigade which belonged to our Division was commanded by Col. B. C. Christ and was far to our right and across a ravine. The Brigades in which were the 48, P. V. and 51st, P. V., were on our left and thus the advance was made and the fighting became hot we trying to advance, the Rebels trying to prevent it, until at last when very near the edge of the town and driving them from all their stands behind fences and walls and when we thought the day ours, reinforcements reached them in shape of men coming from the victory of the surrender of Harpers Ferry and Toombs Georgia Bridge and two more Brigades of A P. Hills Division being added (Toombs taking us in Flank,) we were obliged to fall back, and went to where we had first ascended the steep hill and laid on our arms all night.

Next day nothing but picket firing and our command moved to the right we remained there until the morning of the 19th, and nothing in sight of us but dead and wounded men which could not be attended to owing to the firing all the day before. Then began pursuit when it was too late. Why we remained thus all the next day and with a large number of fresh troops coming up in the night will have to be determined by some person else who knows more about it than the writer.

Some time before our engagement on the left, the troops under the gallant Hooker and others equally good, were having desperate fighting away off to our right, where the fighting was even more severe and hard than on the left where we were. The enemy had the advantage all the time the high hills were in their favor and they had the fences and walls Ours was to advance in the face of all those things and fight them on ground chosen by themselves after several days occupancy, and with a chance to strengthen their lines. While we have no desire to take anything from the glory of Gettysburg and the gallant fighting there, yet Antietam from first to last was of a more desperate character and harder fought than that. At Gettysburg we were on the defensive, at Antietam the Rebels were. The situation was much changed, the ground was much more elevated where they were making their stand than was ours at Gettysburg, and therefore harder to charge. To be sure the spectacular Picketts charge was witnessing at Antietam, but the grand charge of Hooker through the Cornfield on the morning of the 17th, which we witnessed before going in on the left, while it has not been so much sounded, and so much sung, yet it was deserving of more than it got. The decisiveness of the two fields however is very much in favor of Gettysburg. Never again did Rebels try invasion of the North after Gettysburg (except Early's feeble attack on Washington or toward it, in 1864, to divert our Army from Petersburg.) And while for a time we drove Lee from the north side of the Potomac which we did at Antietam, yet there was nothing decided at the latter place. It was what might be called a draw, it might have been different had it been pushed, but it was not and therefore we will have to call it a draw, Gettysburg had three days, Antietam but one but the losses in that one day were fearful.

The Rebels had according to the best authority we can gather 60000 men, our Army about 87000 including about 4000 Cavalry which was of little account except as Scouts, on such ground as was fought over there. Also including 5000 men of Couch's Division which was sent away to reinforce Harpers Ferry, which did not again reach the field until after the fight was over. Then too there was a whole Division that did not enter the fight which was held in reserve, mostly of the Regular Army. They are counted in the 87000 men. Our losses were 2010 killed, 9416 wounded and 1043 missing. In all 12469 and our reports makes a note of having buried 2700 of the Rebel dead, it is evident that the Rebels, did not give their losses as they were. To the writers knowledge there were thousands of wounded left for our army to care for, not a barn or house or hay shed or any kind of shelter in the whole Valley, but was filled with wounded and sick.

OUR BOROUGH FATHERS

Held Their Regular Semi-Monthly Session Monday Night.

A NUMBER OF CITIZENS PRESENT

J. Kennedy Johnston as Water Tax Collector Gives Bonds for $5000 —Council Hears Proposition From Bellefonte Electric Company

MANY BILLS ORDERED PAID

Boro council met Monday evening at 7:30 with President Cunningham presiding and the following members present: Jenkins, Fenlon, Wise, Kirk and Whittaker.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by clerk W. T. Kelley and there being no corrections they stood approved.

There were quite a number of well known citizens present. They were John P. Harris, James Harris, J. C. Meyer, Dr. J. L. Seibert, Dr. A. W. Hafer, S. K. Woodring, of Bellefonte, and Dr. Alexander, of Centre Hall.

Dr. J. W. Alexander had samples of flag stone which he showed council. It is quarried in Ohio. The stone is sawed out in squares. Street Committee had asked him to submit samples.

Dr. A. W. Hafer complained of side walks on Reynolds Avenue in front of properties owned by G. W. Rees and the Schad brothers.

James Harris on behalf of Bellefonte Electric Company made an offer to council to furnish arc lights at $6.00 per light per month and keep them lighted all night. They ask for a five year contract.

The bond of J. Kennedy Johnston as water tax collector for $5,000 was offered for approval. Mr. Fenlon moved seconded by Mr Jenkins that the bond be approved. Motion carried.

The condition of the walks on Reynolds Avenue was referred to Street committee with power.

The proposition of the Electric Light Company was referred to Street committee to confer and report at next meeting.

Mr. Fenlon moved seconded by Mr. Wise that J. K. Johnston be allowed 5 per cent for collecting water tax. Motion carried.

After some other trifling business council heard the bills and then adjournment was in order.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

Husbands Entertain Wives at Dinner at Country Club,

We have so far neglected to mention a most pleasant social event which transpired early last week (Monday evening) at the Nittany Country Club at Hecla Park.

During the past summer a series of house parties have been given which started with the one given by Miss Mary Thomas in Philadelphia. These were arranged by the ladies but the gentlemen friends were also invited and the parties proved successful and enjoyable.

The gentleman having enjoyed themselves so immensely at these gatherings determined to return the compliment and on Monday evening the husbands of the wives of the "House party" entertained the ladies at dinner at the Nittany Country Club.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. George Israel Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lingle, Col. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Reeder, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Munson, Mrs. Calloway, Mrs. Sadie Larimer, Miss Vanderslice, Mrs. James B. Lane, Miss Ella McClain, Mrs. J. L. Spangler, Mrs. John B. Lane.

SOME GOOD RACES.

Took Place at the Centre County Fair on Wednesday and Thursday.

About 1500 people were in attendance at the Centre County Fair on Wednesday and two exciting races were witnessed. They were the 2:40 Pace or trot and the 2:18 pace or trot.

In the last heat of the first race "Vernes Hal" owned by W. V. Larimer ran to close to the pole, the wheel struck the fence and the driver George Schrenengast, of DuBois, thrown out. The horse ran half way around the track before he was stopped. The driver's collar bone was broken.

Wednesday's races were pulled off as follows.

FIRST RACE, $200

THURSDAY.

The weather was fine on Thursday and as a result an immense crowd was in attendance at the County Fair. Penns Valley contributed a large crowd the Pennsylvania Railroad running a special train. From the Bellefonte Central, the C. R. R. and the Bald Eagle Valley Division came large contingents and many people drove to the grounds. It is estimated that there were 4000 people in attendance as there were about 3090 paid admissions, which with the horsemen's, exhibition and free list tickets swelled the crowd to fully the above mentioned number.

The races were as follows :

Special Race, purse $200.

BERT BAYARD'S CONDITION.

Now at Bellefonte Hospital Where He was Operated on Tuesday Morning.

Bert Bayard who has been quite ill for the past two weeks with muscular rheumatism and who is threatened with blood poisoning is reported as resting very comfortably.

He is now in the Bellefonte Hospital to which institution he was taken Monday afternoon on the advice of his attending physician, Dr. George F. Harris.

Mrs. Bayard and the family were very anxious to keep him at home but it seems that two abscess' had formed, one on the right hip and the other under the left arm and an operation was necessary. So under the circumstances it was decided as best to remove him to the hospital where every comfort would be afforded him.

Tuesday morning at ten o'clock he was operated on and the operation was a success. He was reported to have stood it very well.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. John B. Wetzel gave a surprise party on Monday evening in honor of her son William, it being his tenth birthday there was about twenty of his friends present, and they all spent a very pleasant evening in social chat and games till near ten o'clock when all partook of an elegant supper that was prepared for them, after which all departed for their several homes.

He was the recipient of many costly and useful presents, among them being a gold watch, presented by his parents.

Those present were. Harry Muffly, Harold and Horace Schenck, Ward Confer, Charles DeHass, Russell and Merril Schenck, Fred Pletcher, Paul Wagner, Walter Holter, Donald Gardner, Merril Long, John Williams, Harry Wetzel, Ruth and Edith Wensel.—Howard Hustler.

OCTOBER WEDDINGS

Quite a Number Of Marriages Were Solemnized

MANY LOVING HEARTS UNITED

NAMES OF CONTRACTING PARTIES.

STROHM—LITZENBERG.

Rufus Tracey Strohm, of Scranton, and Miss Emma Litzenberg, of Ardmore, were married Wednesday evening at Ardmore. Miss Lola Strohm, sister of the groom, acted as maid of honor, and Mr. Wentzel, of Scranton, as best man. The bride was dressed in cream and white and the maid of honor in pink.

The groom is a graduate of the Bellefonte High School and is connected with the International Correspondence School, at Scranton, and the bride was assistant postmistress in the Ardmore postoffice, and is a young lady possessed of many good qualities.

Mr. and Mrs. Strohm arrived in Centre county Saturday, and for a few days will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Strohm, parents of the groom, at Centre Hill.

STOVER—FLEISHER.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Benjamin Stover, at Centre Hill, Wednesday evening of last week, at eight o'clock, the principals being, Miss Ada Stover and William E. Fleisher. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Shultz. The bride and groom were accompanied to the marriage altar by Clayton Stover and Miss Myrtle Fleisher. After the ceremony the guests were served to the choicest refreshments.

Both the bride and groom are highly respected and industrious young people, and have the best wishes of the Daily News for their future prosperity and happiness.

CLEVENSTINE—GABENSLABEN.

Mr. Harry Clevenstine, of this city, and Miss Carrie Gabenslaben, of Hanover, were married at the bride's home at Hanover, on Thursday morning last. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Koler and only a few friends were present. The bride and groom arrived in Bellefonte Thursday evening and have gone to housekeeping in the McClure property, corner of Spring and Logan street. The groom is employed at Joseph store and is a most exemplary young man. The bride formerly lived here and is a bright and intelligent young lady with a host of friends who will wish her and her husband abundant prosperity.

ISENBERG—HERMAN.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of T. W. Kramer on Reynolds avenue, when Mrs. Kramer's niece Miss Leah Herman of State College was wedded to John E. Isenberg formerly of Bellwood but now of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. T. Aikens Lutheran minister at Pine Grove Mills.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Herman and one of State College most esteemed and highly respected young ladies. The groom is a graduate of State College, class 1903 and has charge of the chemical laboratory of Stanley G. Flagg & Co., Iron and Steel foundry of Philadelphia. After a wedding tour to New York and Boston they will settle down in Philadelphia.

A Coming Foot Ball Game.

The most interesting and exciting game of foot ball to be played in Bellefonte this year is scheduled for Saturday afternoon Oct. 24 at the Fair Grounds at 3 o'clock. The Academy and Lock Haven Normal elevens are as evenly matched as two teams could be and they will have a battle royal. It will be a case of weight and strength against speed and excellent team work. Don't miss the game, you will get your money's worth if you go. The admission is only 25 cents. Go and help the Academy boys raise their guarantee. It requires money to bring teams from a distance. A large crowd ought to be present to cheer the home team on to victory.

—The trial of the Centre county Postoffice Robbers opened in Scranton Tuesday afternoon.

300 POUND BEAR KILLED.

Edward Horner Dispatches Bruin Just When the Brute Aimed a Blow.

Edward Horner had the good fortune to kill a fine, fat 300 pound black bear Tuesday morning, near his home at Linden Hall.

Edward is a young man, nineteen years of age, but full of pluck as the story of his first bear-killing will reveal.

Some time Tuesday morning, George Swabb happened to notice a bear shambling across the fields near his house, and knowing that it would be a pleasure for young Horner to kill a bear this October; he gave his information to this young friend and neighbor. Horner first thought Mr. Swabb a joker, but on being assured that the black beast had really been seen, he loaded his gun with a buck shot shell and took lighter ammunition with him.

The youth hunted a long time without finding the bear or any evidence of one having been in the neighborhood, but he had confidence in Mr. Swabb as a man of truth, and continued his search, and that not without profit.

Finally bear tracks were visible, and Horner's heart began beating faster. He grew anxious to meet bruin, and in a short time did so. When the bear saw the young man he immediately began a retreat, and this was warning to a hunter of experience that bruin's skin must be punctured or lose his game. The charge of buckshot was sent into the bear's side, with no fatal result, but served the purpose of changing the direction of travel of the brute. Instead of retreating, bruin now charged the enemy and it was with no slow pace, either.

The youthful hunter realizing his position, hurriedly began to reload, but his gun refused to discharge the empty shell. After repeated efforts the gun was reloaded with bird shot, that being the only ammunition at hand.

While this was being done bruin had approached dangerously near, and, maddened with pain, he stood erect, and with a rush came at his antagonist to strike him down and devour him. These were precious moments to the young hunter, and he made the best use of them, for as the three hundred pounds of muscle wrapped in bear skin and directed by a savage brute advanced to within two guns' length, the charge of bird shot was sent into bruin's throat.

The bear was slain,

Shortly there was a gathering of neighbors, who hastily performed an operation that converted the vicious brute into bear meat and a bear skin, and from the kettles of the whole neighborhood there now escapes the sweet odor of seething wild game.

STAR ENTERTAINMENT COURSE.

A Great Array of Talent for the Coming Season.

In the Petrikin Hall will be held the annual Star Entertainment Course of 1903-04.

The course will open Oct. 30th, with the Metropolitan Grand Concert Co. This company is composed of four artists who are second to none on the Lyceum platform.

The second attraction will be Dr. W. J. Clark, Nov. 13, who will delight his audience with his illustrated lecture on Wireless Telegraphy.

The third entertainment will be given by the Lyceum Operatic Co. This company will give half its program in concert and half in opera. This company will be followed by one of the strongest companies in the Lyceum field, namely the "Roney Boys". Great things are always expected from this company and these expectations are always more than met.

The fifth attraction will be the Mendelssohn male quartette and Marguerite Smith. This is a company that no lovers of music should miss.

The closing attraction will be the May Parker Concert Co. and Little Pickaninnies. This company has given over four hundred concerts during the past two years and many of them have been return dates.

Get your tickets from the canvasser, Miss Sarah Oberlin, or from Mrs. J. P. Harris, or at Sheffer & Son's Grocery Store, or at the "Index" book store.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW,
Press Correspondent New York State Grange

GRANGE NEWS AND NOTES.

Items of Interest to Members of the Order Generally.

The grange is taking on new life in West Virginia this summer.

The grange meeting at the Thousand Islands Aug. 18 was the largest of many years.

Wolcott grange, New York, has over 800 members—a fair sized regiment of men and women.

Think of one county with over thirty active granges in it! That's St. Lawrence county, N. Y.

More new granges were organized in the first six months of the present year than in the entire year of 1902.

Rehobeth grange hall, in Perry county, O., was recently dedicated. This is one of the finest halls in the state.

The grange picnic season will soon be over for 1903. Those field meetings have greatly strengthened the Order.

Headquarters for the national grange at Rochester next November will be at the Livingston hotel. Session opens Nov. 10.

The thirty-first annual session of the Pennsylvania state grange will be held in the city of Wilkesbarre on Dec. 8 to 11, 1903.

The best preventive of dormancy in granges is to have something to do and keep trying to do it, says the Grange Bulletin.

Chautauqua county, N. Y., has a "grape and grange" day at its county fair each year which is becoming quite a drawing card.

Rev. Albert Boynton Storms, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist church, Des Moines, Ia., has been elected president of Iowa Agricultural college.

National Master Jones has "covered the country" this summer, even going to the Pacific coast, arousing and intensifying interest in grange work.

The Pennsylvania state grange rendered substantial aid in securing the passage of a law for an agricultural building at the Pennsylvania state college.

Ohio will add 2,000 new members between April 1 and Oct. 1, says State Master Derthick. Ohio Patrons have their annual reunion at the state fair in Columbus.

A New York state grange has been having a contest between men and women to ascertain which can produce the best literary work—a very commendable idea!

It is estimated that Moorestown (N. J.) grange has made a saving of $10,000 by purchasing fertilizers for members. Some individual Patrons claim to have effected a saving of $500.

Since Jan. 1, 1903, there have been organized in New York state about forty new granges with probably 1,600 members. It is but one indication of what is going on all over the country.

Androscoggin county, Me., which has for so long held the banner for the largest grange in the state, now yields it to Aroostook county, as Houlton has nearly if not quite 700 members now.

An agricultural paper in Ohio offered a first prize in cash of $2,500 for nearest estimate on total number of immigrants during last fiscal year. It was won by Jesse Blackburn of Normal, Ill.

The last meeting of Dutchess county (N. Y.) Pomona grange was attended by 500 Patrons from the twenty-three granges of the county. Sixty candidates took the fifth degree at this meeting.

What the Greek letter fraternity is to the college man, says an agricultural paper, the club to the city man, the grange is to the farmer. It ministers to his financial, spiritual, social and mental needs. Its benefits are many.

Importance of a Grange Home.

The grange is in no sense a migratory institution, as is proved by its ritualistic and fixed forms of work. No grange can hold successful meetings within the full intents of the Order, says Mr. George B. Horton, unless it secures or provides for itself a fixed and regular place for holding meetings. Said place should be such as to permit the seating and working of the grange in full form as provided in the ritual. If from necessity a grange is meeting here and there or in such place that the members cannot in fact conduct a real grange the members should consider it a first and imperative duty to the life of the grange to secure or build some kind of a structure which the members may call their grange home. This place may be ever so humble and entirely within the limits of the possibilities of the members to provide, but in and around it can be gathered and fixed the evidences of permanency.

Carry Out the Programme.

Not only has the number of granges increased more rapidly in 1903 than ever before, but many old granges report large accessions to their membership. This is as it should be, but the objects of the grange should not be lost sight of in the hour of increased numerical strength, remarks the New England Farmer. Discipline, education, co-operation—these cannot be sacrificed even for numbers without loss of power and diminished influence.

Umbrella Draws Lightning Bolt.

During a recent thunderstorm at Newburg, N. Y., Mrs. Gottfried Griess, aged thirty-five, was instantly killed. The umbrella she held in her left hand had an iron rod, and the lightning passed through it. Her husband, aged fifty, and son, Gottfried Griess, Jr., aged ten, stood beside her. They became unconscious.

Mischter Drucker!—Wer hot net schun geheert vun d'r Cärrie Nehschen, was drauß in Kansas mit ihrem Hätschet die Saluhns kaput geschlage hot? Well, selle werry Cärrie is kerzlich ah noch unserm gute Pennsylvanien kumme for Spietsches zu mache gegich d'r Whiskie-Deifel un d'r Duwack-Deifel, wie se gesaht hot. Se hot awer ihr großes Hätschet net mitgebrunge, sundern juscht ganz kleene munzige, was mer kann an d'r Rock stecke so as wie en Kamphbotten. Selle hot se verkahft, dheel for finfunzwanzig, dheel for finfzig Sent des Stick, un se sen abgange wie heeße Buchweezekuche. Weil die Cärrie ihr groß Hätschet net meh juhst for Argument, sundern die Biwel, so hot se expelt, bei die gute Leit in Pennsylvanien ah gut auszumache, denn se schwätzt net for nix, sundern mer muß bezahle, sie zu heere. Wann es ihr awer iwerall so gange is as wie browe in Maunten Sitty, dann kummt se bal in's Armehaus. Juscht ebaut hunnert Leit sen hiegange for se zu heere un sell hot sich uskohrs net bezahlt, betohs sell war net all Profit.

Schuhr, se hot en gottsträflich Maul un hot eenig ebbes gesaht, was ihr grad in d'r Sinn kumme is; awer Niemand hot ihr sell iwel genumme, well mer weeß, wer un was se is. Mit die Alte hot se nix ausgericht un die Buwe hen se juscht ausgelacht, wie se gegich des Sigarett-Schmohke losgedonnert hot. Sie hot ah en bar Saluhns besucht un sell war dann en gut Adverteisment for die Werth. An eem Platz hot en Mann zum Werth gesaht: „Geb d'r Cärrie en Drink vun Deim beschte Whistie; ich bezahl derfor!" Awer harle hot die Bobbel ufem Counter gestanne, so hot die Cärrie se genumme un in Stider verschlage. D'r Werth hot ihr gesaht, sell däht zwee Dhaler koschte, awer se hot juscht gelacht un gesaht, eb se verleicht gude dät wie en Person, was kee zwee Dhaler hät. Ich kann net for schuhr sage, eb se bezahlt hot oder net; ich glahb, es war en ufgemachter Dschab un d'r Werth hot gut ausgemacht, betohs es sen an sellem Nochmittag en bar hunnert Leit in sei Platz neikumme for die Scherbe vun d'r Bobbel zu sehne, was die Cärrie Nehschen verbroche hot. So viel is schuhr: wer sell Weibsmensch vor verrickt kahft, der gebt sei Geld umsunscht aus. Mir scheint es, se is juscht zu gescheid, un enihau, se weeß uf en leichter Weg viel Geld zu mache.

Awer in Scränten is se net so gut wegkumme. Dort is se gerescht worre, weil se Hätschets verkahft hot ohne Leizens un se is hunnert Dhaler gefeint worre. Sell hot se wiethig gemacht un se hot die Sitty-Offisers arg bejuhst, bis se beim Fliegel genumme un eigesperrt worre is. RESTORATION HOST.

Followers of John Alexander Dowie Leave Chicago for New York.

EIGHT TRAIN LOADS IN ALL

Nearly All the Caucasian Races Are to Be Seen Among the Crusaders There Are Also Asiatics.

THEY NUMBER THREE THOUSAND

CHICAGO, October 15.—The "Restoration Host," from "Zion City," began its movement upon New York city Wednesday. At intervals of one-half hour train loads of the followers of John Alexander Dowie left the North Shore City, eight trains in all, bearing over 3,000 "crusaders." At the blowing of the fire whistle every inhabitant of Zion City knelt and prayed for a safe journey, and over 7,000 men, women and children gathered at the railway station to listen to the final instructions of their leader.

The cars were decorated only with a Zion banner at the rear of each train. Uniformed guards were distributed throughout the cars, while the Zion band, the restoration choir of 600 voices, and the children's choir gathered about to inspire the departing hosts.

The trains proceeded over various lines passing through Chicago. The band and choir trains were the last to leave, the latter including Dowie's private car, the Arcadian.

Dowie's plans contemplate the arrival in New York of all the trains the same time. Upon leaving the trains at the crusaders will spread themselves over the city in search of the quarters which was assigned them several weeks ago. Once established, the work of proselyting will begin in preparation for next Sunday's meeting in Madison Square Garden. In bands of ten, commanded by captains, the host will endeavor to carry the teachings of Dowie into every household, while the leaders hold street-corner meetings.

Among the crusaders are representatives of nearly all caucasian races, while there is a sprinkling of Asiatics among the guards. The orient is represented by several Japanese and Syrians.

Old men with long flowing beards, old women, middle aged and youthful, even some with infants in arms, crowded the cars. Two Pullman coaches were attached to the rear of each special for the accommodation of the more well-to-do of Zion's host.

HOW TO VOTE NEXT ELECTION.

A New Form of Ballot Will be Used Which Should be Studied.

Remember that you will have a new lesson to learn before you can vote intelligently this fall, the new ballots being entirely different from the old one. The old ballot had a separate column for each party which had made nominations. But on the new ballot the names of all candidates for one office will be printed under the name of that office. For instance, under the heading "State Treasurer," all candidates for that office will be printed The name of the candidate will be first at the left, and at the right of his name will be the name of the party which nominated him. At the right of this party names will be a small square. If two or more parties have nominated the same man for the same office the name of each party which nominated him will be printed at the right of hami s.en At the top of each ballot there will be printed in large letters the names of the different parties which have made nominations, and a large square will be at the right of each party name. If you want to vote a straight ticket you will put a cross in the big square at the right of your party name and that will be counted for the whole ticket. But if you want to cut your ticket you put a cross in the small square at the right of the name of the man for whom you want to vote. Don't put your cross in the big square at the top and in the little square at the right of each candidate; if you do this, neither one will count. Remember, the big square is for a straight ticket, the little square is for a cut ticket.

State to Have Big Fish Show.

The State Department of Fisheries of Pennsylvania will have as large an exhibition of fresh water fish at the St. Louis Exposition as the United States Government will have of both fresh water and salt water fish. The State will have thirty-five aquariums of large size, which is just the number for the Government exhibit.

Fish Commissioner Meehan said last week: "Our exhibit of fish and things relating to fish culture will be unique. We will exhibit live Pennsylvania fish; stuffed specimens of animals, birds and reptiles that prey on fish; water color drawings of leading Pennsylvania game and food fish; device for catching fish; literature on fish; a miniature hatchery in operation and a miniature copy of a typical waterfall and mountain stream in Pennsylvania. The commissioner will be given 3500 square feet of space.

"The work of designing the exhibit has been placed in the hands of Philip H. Johnston, a Philadelphia architect, and contracts for the features will be placed in a few days.

"The Pennsylvania fish car will take the live fish to the Exposition and there be placed on exhibition. There will be between twenty-five and thirty live specimens of Pennsylvania food and game fish in the exhibit, and the only food fish not there will be the shad, whitefish and lake herring, which are too tender to transport.

"The new fish hatchery at Bellefonte will be complete next week. Already contributions of over a million trout fry from private hatcheries have been made to the new State hatcheries."—The Press.

TILLMAN ACQUITTED

DEMONSTRATION GREAT FOLLOWED

The Jury Was Out for Twenty Hours Before it Arrived at a Final Conclusion in the Case.

HE ISSUES A PUBLIC STATEMENT

LEXINGTON, S. C., October 16.—The jury in the case of J. H. Tillman has found him not guilty. The jury announced at 10:45 that a verdict had been agreed upon. The defendant and attorneys were sent for and the jury filed into the courtroom and the verdict was read.

A demonstration followed the announcement, friends of the defendant giving vent to their feelings in a shout. The court, previous to the reading of the verdict, had admonished the spectators to refrain from any demonstration.

Counsel for the defense moved the defendant's discharge from the sheriff's custody. No objections being made by the state, the court made the order.

The jury was out about twenty hours before returning a verdict.

The defendant shook hands, with the judge and members of the jury and left the court room, accompanied by his friends and counsel.

There was great uncertainty when court convened Thursday as to whether a verdict would be reached.

Soon after the jury retired Wednesday a ballot was taken, the result being ten to two for acquittal. After some deliberation one of the two went over to the side of acquittal, but it was not until about twenty minutes before the jury sent word to the court Thursday morning that an agreement had been reached, that the twelfth man yielded. Very few of the jurors got any sleep during the night. The long delay caused apprehension that a mistrial would result. The jury could not have stayed out beyond midnight Saturday night. The count in the indictment charging the carrying of concealed weapons was lost sight of in the trial and and was not considered.

Senator Tillman was not present Thursday, having returned Wednesday to his home, where his wife is recovering from injuries received in a runaway accident. A telegram was sent him immediately after the verdict was announced.

James H. Tillman, after his acquittal, made the following statement:

"I feel very grateful at the result of the verdict, but at no time did I apprehend any serious consequences. I, of course, deeply regret the death of Mr. Gonzales, but I was forced to do what I did. I have never apprehended a conviction, for I felt that I did no more than any other man would have done under the same circumstances and what I was compelled to do. My position was fully stated in the testimony I gave on the stand.

"I did not asked for a change of venue because I was convinced on account of prejudice in Richland county that I could not get a fair and impartial trial in that county. I felt sure that as soon as my case could be presented to an impartial jury I could be vindicated. The verdict has justified the correctness of my judgment. Lexington county was selected by the prosecution. Its people are law abiding and have long been noted for the correctness of their verdicts and have been praised by the press."

YES OR NO?

Bellefonte People Are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Is there anything in the testimony of one's friends?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of local citizens of any greater moment than those of strangers?

Would you sooner believe people living in some far-away place than citizens of your own city?

We think not for home proof can easily beinvestigated.

Curtis Johnson, of 583 Bishop street, freight truckman, says: "I had backache and lameness across my loins for a year or more. At times the lameness was so acute I could lift nothing and if I stooped it was impossible for me to straighten. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidneys the whole time and I had a dull tired feeling which took away all my ambition I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from F. Potts Green's drug store and they soon cured me from the whole combination of troubles and they did it quickly and thoroughly. My wife was also suffering from a tired, grinding backache and she used Doan's Kidney Pills and they invigorated her generally. She now speaks of them as highly as I do. We never came across any remedy which surpassed Doan's Kidney Pills."

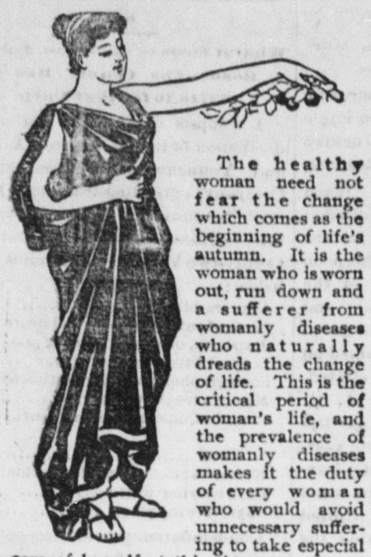
A PERFECT PAINLESS PILL

is the one that will cleanse the system, set the liver to action, remove the bile, clear the complexion, cure headache and leave a good taste in the mouth. The famous little pills for doing such work pleasantly and effectually are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Bob Moore of Lafayette, Ind., says: "All other pills I have used gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers are simply perfect." Sold by Green's Pharmacy.



The healthy woman need not fear the change which comes as the beginning of life's autumn. It is the woman who is worn out, run down and a sufferer from womanly diseases who naturally dreads the change of life. This is the critical period of woman's life, and the prevalence of womanly diseases makes it the duty of every woman who would avoid unnecessary suffering to take especial care of herself at this time.

The ills which vex so many women at the change of life are entirely avoided or cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong, and enables the weakest to pass through this trying change with the tranquility of perfect health.

"I have been a very healthy woman, and this time has been very hard with me," writes Mrs. Maggie Morris, of Munson Station, Clearfield Co., Pa., Box 16. "I am come to the time of change of life, and I have been sick a great deal off and on. When Mrs. Hemmis moved beside me I was sick in bed, and when she came to see me and we were talking over our sickness, Mrs. Hemmis told me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also 'Pellets.' I got her to bring me a bottle of each from the drug store and I used them. They did me a great deal of good, and I got two more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I never saw such a wonderful cure. Before I commenced your remedies I was good for nothing; was in such misery I hardly knew what to do with myself, now I can do all my work myself and feel well."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are easy and pleasant to take.

FRUIT FROM PORTO RICO

A Grower's Opinion of the Island's Oranges.

TO COMPETE IN AMERICAN MARKET

James Struthers of Bayamon Says This Winter Thousands of Boxes of Oranges From Wild Trees Will Be Shipped to the United States. American Growers Are Developing Many Groves In Upland Valleys.

"Porto Rico will be the orange island of the world, its coffee will come to have the same vogue in the United States it one time had in Spain, and its people will be lifted out of poverty and ignorance." This prophecy was made at the St. James hotel in Washington to a reporter for the Washington Star by Mr. James Struthers, orange shipper and grower of Bayamon, Porto Rico. Mr. Struthers lived in Washington from 1885 to 1895, for a part of that time being engaged in the produce commission business.

"Porto Rico," continued Mr. Struthers, "will become a sea girt garden. The people there are going to find gold in the golden fruit, just as the people of Florida did and as the orange growers of California do. Cold, which overwhelmed the Florida growers in 1894 and which threatens them in the Peninsula State every winter, is not feared in Porto Rico. The hurricane danger is a small one because the orange lands are in the upland valleys, wind sheltered by great hills. The late hurricane in Porto Rico did greatest damage on the low sugar lands of the coast and along the water courses. Comparison between central and southern Florida and Porto Rico as an orange land is all in favor of the latter. A high percentage, if not a majority, of the American orange growers in Porto Rico are from Florida.

"The orange districts of Porto Rico have a self evident advantage over southern California for the production of citrus fruits. Frost in Porto Rico is such a remote possibility that it is not to be considered. The island is well watered and has a bounteous rainfall. It is nearer to the markets of the Atlantic states both in the matter of time and charges than California. It is four days' sail from San Juan to New York, and it is an event when a fruit train crosses from California to the Hudson river in seven days. Porto Rico has plenty of cheap, faithful and willing field labor. It is not efficient labor as yet, but it will become so under American instruction and with the application of American field machinery and implements. The natives in the interior of Porto Rico are weak because they are underfed, but the main reason for their inefficiency is that there is no method in their work, and the only tool they know how to use is the machete. California's only conspicuous advantage over Porto Rico is that of daily or multidaily shipments, but as the trade of Porto Rico is developed the steamship companies will provide frequent enough sailings.

"As to quality, the Porto Rico orange is as good as any other. Of course, there are good and bad oranges in the island, just as elsewhere, but I am sure it is a reasonable statement that the average orange of Porto Rico is superior to the average orange grown in any of the citrus belts of the United States. But the quality of an orange depends largely on the grower. He can, if he understands orange culture and has a favorable climate, make the kind of orange the public wants.

"This winter there will be thousands of boxes of Porto Rico oranges from wild trees shipped to the American market, and they will sell side by side with the orchard fruit of California. Cultivated oranges from Porto Rico will make a strong impression on the market three or five years hence. Many groves have been and many are being planted in the island, and yet the industry has scarcely been begun.

"The coffee of Porto Rico will soon make itself felt in the United States market. There is no better coffee in the world outside of Arabia than that grown in our island. Millions of Americans who believe they drink coffee three times a day would not know coffee if it were poured out to them. Tons of chickory, roasted beans and peas are being drunk for coffee, while the Porto Rican berries go to waste. Porto Rico's coffee is strong in tannin, and the American palate will not tolerate this. The berry is shipped green to the United States and roasted by the American or 'light' process, which does not remove the tannin. This astringent quality is overcome by the French or 'dark' roasting process, and plans are evolving to give Porto Rican coffee this treatment and build up a demand for it in the United States by the distribution of samples.

"There are several thousand acres planted in cotton for the first time in twenty-five years. The quality is good and the yield fair. With proper cultivation it is destined to be a paying crop. Sugar is the money crop of the island. The acreage has been largely increased since the American occupation, but king sugar will have to take second place when the cultivated Porto Rico orange groves come into bearing."

CHICAGO'S FIRST PORKERS.

How the Big Packing Establishments Got Their Start.

"As a live stock market Chicago stands second to none," said a dealer of that city the other day. "The figures for 1902 show receipts at Chicago that tell volumes if you stop to consider their full import. Almost 8,000,000 head of sheep, over 4,000,000 hogs, 100,000 horses, 125,000 calves and 3,000,000 cattle were brought to the Chicago market last year by the big railroads that reach out into the cattle ranges and feeding grounds all over the west. The reports show 278,100 car loads of live stock received here in 1902, quite a growth for the fifty-five years since the first shipment.

"Have you read about that first shipment of live stock? Young Millican Hunt, now over eighty years old, had started across the prairies to market with a sled load of hogs, and when he got across the Des Plaines river he found there was no snow on which to draw his pigs the rest of the journey.

"That was in 1848, the year the Galena road, now the Chicago and Northwestern, built its first ten miles, and young Hunt made a dicker with the crew of a construction train, loaded his porkers on the train and rode into Chicago triumphant behind the little old 'Pioneer.'

"Was you ever out to the Field Columbian museum?" the dealer continued. "Well, you should go out there some day and see that old locomotive. She stands for a good deal from Chicago's point of view. She brought in the first load of live stock, and the day the road was opened and the mayor and the big men of the town were trying the novelty of a ride on the first regular train she pulled the first rail shipment of grain into town. The farmer out on the prairie hailed the junketers and loaded his wheat on a good deal like Hunt had the hogs carried in.

"They tell me now," he went on, "that last year that load of hogs had grown to over 65,000 car loads of live stock brought into Chicago over the Northwestern. The 'Pioneer' was surely well named."

NEW WAR ON SQUIRRELS.

California Farmers Will Spread Disease by Inoculation.

The farmers of Contra Costa county, in California, have hit upon a new plan to get rid of the squirrel pest and through their representatives in the board of supervisors have appealed to the University of California to aid them, says a special dispatch from Berkeley to the Chicago Inter Ocean. Supervisors Stow and Tormey called at the College of Agriculture the other day in that capacity as committeemen representing the farmers and presented the new scheme, which will receive the backing of the university.

It consists of the spreading of a plague that already exists among the squirrels by artificial inoculation. The farmers of Contra Costa county have lately discovered that the squirrels have been dying off from some new disease which has attacked them. But the pests have not been dying fast enough to please the farmers, who think they have found a way to assist the disease.

Some bright mind recently suggested that the malady might be spread by capturing a few of the diseased animals, extracting the plague germs and inoculating hundreds of others, which would in turn infect those among which they are turned loose. The plan seems to be a perfectly feasible one and may solve the problem of the squirrel pest, which has annoyed farmers for a long time in California.

I can picture the disconsolate princes, rising, rubbing the dust from their knees, rescuing their hats and climbing sadly on the first trolley car that came along. And that royal duke! I should like to have seen him stumping home again after May had given him the glassy stare. I wonder what he said after he had left the lady and when he recognized that the dollars were not for him.

HOW TURKS TORTURE.

Treatment of Christians Described by an Eyewitness.

THE MEN FLOGGED FOR REVENGE.

One Victim, George Lynch Says, Had His Legs Broken to Make Him Reveal Hiding Place of Arms and Bombs—Women Forced to Flee to the Forests and Children Starved.

"There is no question that the Turks have been practicing brutalities upon the Christians in Dubnitza," says George Lynch in a recent special cablegram from Monastir in Macedonia to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"I saw hundreds of refugees who had fled from the destroying Turk. I visited a hut occupied by the remnant of a family. On entering I heard the wailing cry of a suffering child. A woman seated on the floor was busy stemming tobacco. Two children were crouching near her, one a pretty child of four and the other younger. The latter was wailing. I have never seen a more pitiful bit of humanity. She was simply a living skeleton. Her legs were like pipe stems. Her little hands were like bird claws, crooked and helpless, like those of a dead bird.

"The mother told me her story. She said their village had been burned by Turks and her husband slaughtered. She and her children escaped and fled. For five weeks she and her children hid in the forest, and, although her village was not far from the frontier, it took her five weeks to reach the frontier and safety. The child became ill from starvation and eating roots. I saw other refugees. All told me the same story. I had a long talk with a woman who had a baby in arms. She said the Turks had begun to outrage the women of her village. Then all the young women fled from the village during the night. The Turks flogged the men who remained for revenge.

"I interviewed a group of men refugees. They were apparently simple peasants. All of the group of thirteen except one had been beaten only a few days ago. He stripped and showed me the marks of punishment. It was a terrible exhibition. I asked the men for what reason they were given the flogging. They said the reason given by the Turks was to make them tell where bombs and arms were hidden. The men said if they left the villages temporarily to avoid flogging their women were outraged. If they attempt to escape while being flogged sentries shoot them down. One man had his legs broken to compel him to tell about alleged buried arms.

"This was the Turks' method of torture: Being pinioned, he was forced to kneel down. A long piece of timber was placed under his shins and another behind his calves. The ends of both were securely lashed. Men stood on the timbers thus formed. Then two Turks bent his body back, throwing their entire weight on his chest, until, after terrible agony, his legs snapped. I made him strip to verify his tale. It was horribly obvious. There was no exaggeration about it. Another refugee had his arm broken. Another told me he had been tied naked to a tree twenty-four hours, while his wife was carried away under his eyes by bashi-bazouks. In a simple, wistful way, as if I, being a stranger, might have good news, they asked, 'Do you think the Russians will come again to help us?'

"It makes any man's blood boil to see that the only interference of the powers is to lecture and threaten Bulgarians who had helped their brothers. How long, O Lord, how long, before the justice and pity of the civilized world will find voice in action?"

Golf In Silk Hats.

Each contestant must wear a silk hat and either a Prince Albert or an evening coat to participate in the golf tourney for the Billy King cup at the Glen Echo club in a few days, says a St. Louis dispatch. It is said that several members asked permission to play in opera hats, as they would be less likely to suffer in a round of the links, but Mr. King and Colonel McGrew refused to listen to the suggestion. The club members think it likely that a majority of the players will wear Prince Alberts, as the tournament cannot be started until 6 o'clock if dress suits are worn. However, this point has not yet been finally agreed upon by the respective contestants.

So I take the first occasion
To write to you, Dr. Wiley.
I'm a patriotic person
And should call myself a duffer
If I, by my hesitation,
Let my cherished country suffer.

I don't care what it is mixed with,
Fusel oil or cream of tartar,
On the altar of researching
I'm prepared to be a martyr.
Such a fate would make me happy;
I should call my death idyllic
If I sank 'neath S. frumenti
Mixed with acid salicylic.

Rest assured that I'll come gladly
If you say that you desire me.
Drop a postal or a letter;
On the whole, you'd better wire me.
When the country calls for helpers,
Let me urge this truth on you, sir,
She will get the quickest answer
From yours hastily.

MAYOR JONES' EXPLOIT.

Toledo's Executive Shows Firemen How to Climb Up a Brass Rod.

Hand over hand, with his body as rigid as the muscles that maintained it, Mayor Samuel Jones of Toledo, O., moved silently and gracefully up the heavy brass rod leading from the sleeping quarters of the fire boys at engine house No. 3 on Jefferson street from the engine room floor below and only stopped ascending when his head touched the roof, two floors from the ground, says the New York Times. Try as they would, the half dozen healthy firemen could not come nearly up to the mayor's record as a hand over hand climber.

These athletic sports occurred the other day at the Central fire station, the mayor having dropped in to pass the time of day en route to affairs of state. There's nothing the mayor enjoys more than some exercise which will test the brawn of a man, and it pleases him to be able to lead and to watch them try to follow. The brass rod is the fireman's stairway—coming down—but the mayor made it his going up, something the men rarely attempted except when "bantered."

The mayor's grip is wonderfully strong, his great, broad hands being well muscled and well trained. The mayor prefers running or walking downtown to riding; he prefers to sleep in the open air, and hence upon his back porch.

MAIL BY TELEPHONE.

Senator Fairbanks' Plan to Expedite Delivery of Important Letters.

Senator C. W. Fairbanks of Indiana as soon as the regular session of congress convenes will take up a matter in which he is much interested, says a Richmond special dispatch to the New York Times. Just before the adjournment last spring he offered a resolution calling upon the postal department to investigate the feasibility of using the telephone in the delivery of special delivery letters. The senate would not make an appropriation at that time, as the proposition was new.

Senator Fairbanks talks enthusiastically of the matter. He believes that the adoption of the rural telephone will make it possible for the farmer to receive his mail as quickly as the man in town. He would have it arranged so that the postmaster could open the special delivery letter and read it over the telephone to the man in the country.

The rapid extension of telephone lines through the rural districts makes the scheme more easy than it would have been at the time he prepared it. He has talked with merchants and farmers and members of the post office department, and they are all in favor of the plan. He says he intends to push the matter as rapidly as possible.

LIFE SAVERS FOR SKIBO.

Carnegie to Establish Stations on His Scottish Lakes.

Andrew Carnegie will organize life saving stations on his lakes at Skibo castle, Scotland, as soon as he receives the medicine chests and other appliances used in rescuing and resuscitating the drowning, says the New York World. They were sent to Europe recently by President J. Wesley Jones of the United States volunteer life saving corps.

Chief Inspector Rudolph Canfield of the corps met Mr. Carnegie and Charles Schwab at the Duquesne baths, Pittsburg, last year. Mr. Carnegie defeated Mr. Schwab in a swimming race, and it was then suggested by Canfield that life saving stations be established on the Skibo lakes.

It is said Chief Inspector Canfield will instruct the residents of Skibo in the methods of rescuing and resuscitating the drowning.

Indiana Farm's Odd Freak.

Kosciusko county, in the far northern end of the state of Indiana, recently furnished a rival for Brown county's earthquake farm, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. W. S. Blatchley, state geologist, received a letter from Joshua Leffel, living on a farm near Silver lake, stating that he had a two acre pasture that had some of the tendencies of an electric battery. By tapping the foot on the ground or by striking the surface with a stick startling sounds are produced. "One can hear a peculiar cracking noise," he says. "It resembles the sound produced by the breaking of ice. Again, there may be a snapping sound like that produced by throwing salt on a hot stove. The noise is so distinct that it may be heard from one to three rods away." According to Leffel, the strangest freak of the pasture is that one may receive a shock as if from a galvanic battery by simply touching the hand upon the ground.

Sarah Bernhardt's New Book.

Sarah Bernhardt, the famous French actress, has signed a contract to write her memoirs. The book will be published simultaneously in Paris, London and New York. She had to be paid $8,000 down before consenting to put a pen to paper. In addition she is to receive a good royalty on the sales. She is making arrangements to have the book translated into most of the European languages. The book must be ready next August.

A Club to War on "Hiawatha."

An organization to be known as the Anti-Hiawatha club was launched in Portsmouth, Va., recently for the purpose of suppressing the overpopular twostep "Hiawatha," says the Philadelphia Record. Each member of the club swears that he will not whistle, sing or dance to the tune of the played out melody; that he will pay no visits

Novelties In Seedless Fruit.

A small box of California seedless plums has been received by one of the leading Philadelphia fruiterers, the first of the kind ever perfectly grown and ripened, says the Philadelphia Press. They were of large size, of a deep blue color and said to be delicious in flavor and quality and were promptly sold at a fancy price. It is said that a seedless prune will be one of next season's novelties, and satisfactory experiments and hybridizing are now being conducted by some of the largest fruit growers in the south and west. Seedless watermelons, apples, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, strawberries and blackberries are promised for the next year's markets. The experts in the fruit departments of the agricultural bureau at Washington have, it is said, been quite successful this season in producing stoneless fruit.

The Pumpkin Field.

Though sharp the morn with autumn frost and chill the early air,
The mellow sun gives promise of a day superbly fair.
What etchings of the shade and light!
What matchless tints are born
Each moment in the mighty field of pumpkins and of corn!

The corn shocks rustle dreamily, as if they whispered low
The story of the summer who was here a space ago,
And gleaming in the autumn sun, to eager eyes revealed,
Big tawny globes repose at ease about the pumpkin field.

The cool, soft dew of rosy June, the fervor of July,
When copper pointed shafts were flung from out a seething sky,
The tranquil glow of August with her warmly fragrant tears
Have wrought their mingled flavor in those yellow rinded spheres.

And, oh, delicious vision of the luxury to be
When wind and frost shall shake the leaves from every hapless tree,
When, holding for the household band a radiant surprise,
The board shall creak beneath the weight of royal pumpkin pies!

—Harriet Whitney in Ladies' World For October.

General Miles' Little Joke.

"I won't rust out; I will wear out."

So said General Nelson A. Miles as he started the other day for Beaumont, Tex., says a Chicago special to the New York World. General Miles has gone into the oil business, so there is a joke in his statement to his friends.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 20. 1903.

President Roosevelt's interest in Maryland politics is one of several circumstances which have made the campaign in that state of national importance, hardly second to that of the contest in Ohio. For some time there has been a a bitter factional struggle among the Maryland publicans, between the followers of Senator McComas and Representative Mudd who quarreled over federal patronage. Many of the republicans are determined that Senator McComas shall not be reelected and this lack of harmony is liable to be of service to the democrats, The leaders of both factions have had frequent interviews with the President and this gave rise to rumors that he favored first one and then the other faction. He had now made it plain that his interest in the campaign is merely a party one and that he is neither for nor against any of the republican candidates. He has appealed to the leaders to put aside their factional differences and unite to defeat the democrats. It is not known just what effect the Presidents attempts at harmonizing the party will have, but they have much annoyed Senator Gorman who publically criticises President Roosevelt for interference in the state campaign. Mr. Gorman criticisms may be good politics, but they are not very just as there are plenty of precedents for the president's interference in state politics in the interest of the party. It might also be said that the Senator from Maryland is himself interfering in the New York campaign, as he is now in that city aiding Tammany. He is one of the most probable candidates for the democratic nomination for president and many republicans feel that he is the strongest man the democrats can put up. His chances for the nomination are supposed to be in direct proportion to the democratic success in his state and this is another circumstance which makes the Maryland campaign of importance. In addition the race-question which has been made the issue of the campaign, is of special importance to President Roosevelt, as he has done much to make it a factor in present politics. He no doubt feels that a republican victory in Maryland would serve as an indoresement of his attitude toward the negro, and as the state has southern sympathies, such an indorsement would have special weight with the President's northern and western critics of his negro policy. Therefore a republican victory in Maryland would give the President prestige as a party harmonizer would be a partial indoresement of his attitude toward the negro, and would lessen the power of Senator Gorman as a possible competitor in the presidential campaign.

Senator Hansbrough is preparing a bill along the general lines recommended by the President in his message to the last session of the Fifty-seventh Congress. This measure provides that the desert land act shall be so amended as to prevent the assignment of the entryman' right before the expiration of the three years from the time of entry. Speaking on the subject of land law revision, the Senator said recently, "The facts do not warrant a complete reversal of the existland laws, although the modifications which I have incorporated in my bill I regard as most important. People who have lived in the West, who have watched the struggles of the poor but energetic settlers in that country contending with the fact that they cannot harvest a money crop under eighteen months from the time they enter upon their land, and that in the meantime they must support their families, cannot, but appreciate that the provision whereby a settler can, at the end of fourteen months, borrow cash upon his land, make the final payment and get a clear title on which to base a mortgage, is a wise one, as wise to day as when it was enacted by Congress. The needy settler who has lived in the community for fourteen months and demonstrated habits of thrift and industry, can always secure from the local bankers the funds with which to commute his claim and enough to live on temporarly, stock his farm, buy a few agricultural implements, etc., and that class of men make good citizens. I appreciate that there may be a serious fight in Congress this session, over this subject, but I have reason to believe that a majority will support my bill."

HIS CALL TO ARMS

Republican State Chairman Addresses County Committeemen.

SKIRMISH OF NATIONAL FIGHT

Widespread Significance of the Present Canvass In Pennsylvania and the Influence of Its Result On the Approaching Presidential Campaign.

[Special Correspondence.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Chairman Penrose, in an address to the members of the Republican county committees throughout the state, has just sounded "a call to arms" to every active Republican of the commonwealth in an urgent request to begin active work for the entire Republican ticket and expressing the hope that this activity will not cease until the polls are closed on election day.

The Republican field marshal dwells upon the importance of the contest and makes it clear that this campaign is but the skirmish of the national struggle which is to take place next year.

CHAIRMAN'S CALL TO ACTION.

Following is a copy of the address which is being mailed to the county committeemen by Chairman Penrose:

"Your name has been sent me by your county chairman as having been selected by the Republican voters of your election district to represent them on the county committee, and after congratulating you upon the honor conferred to represent such an intelligent body of voters I beg to impress upon you that the contest this year is the opening skirmish of the great battle to be fought next year, when a president and vice president are to be chosen, also representatives in congress and members of the general assembly.

"It is therefore desirable, on account of the effect it will have upon next year's contest, that every Republican voter have impressed upon him the importance of the present contest and the necessity for him to take an active part in the campaign and that that activity be not allowed to cease until the last Republican vote in his district has been polled on election day.

"This course is suggested particularly, as a large and emphatic majority will be considered throughout the nation as the indorsement of Pennsylvania of the splendid administration of President Roosevelt and the desire that the same be continued.

PENNSYLVANIA IS POTENTIAL.

"As a matter of fact the utterances of the Republicans of Pennsylvania, as reflected through the ballotbox, have great weight in the declarations contained in the platforms adopted at Republican national conventions.

"Therefore an overwhelming majority in Pennsylvania this year will be considered as Pennsylvania's voice in behalf of the continuance of the present era of prosperity and an emphatic protest against any and all attempts at tariff tinkering—in other words, such a verdict will be accepted to mean that Pennsylvania is in favor of leaving 'well enough alone,' a policy which, if pursued, will prevent business disturbances and the consequent inauguration of the period of depression which usually prevails during presidential years.

"I assume that you can readily understand the occasion for the activity suggested herein and that I can rely upon you for prompt, energetic and painstaking work.

"I further suggest that you keep in touch with your county chairman, informing him regarding the situation in your district and be guided by his instructions.

"I will add for your further information that reports from all parts of the state point to a great victory in November next for the 'party of posperity,' and you can rely upon it that such will be the result if the Republicans of the state display their usual activity.

"BOIES PENROSE, Chairman."

SIGNS THAT POINT TO VICTORY.

There has been much activity at the Republican state headquarters since Senator Penrose's return from his vacation trip. Many of the county leaders have been in to confer with him about party matters and others who take an interest in the party organization have called to show their interest

The fact that in many of the counties the matter of congressional and legislative nominations is now being discussed brings up prominently the fact that next year will be a very important one in state and national politics and that the outcome of next month's election must necessarily have a bearing upon the outlook for Republican success next year.

Since Senator Penrose got back Secretary Andrews has had more time to devote to the correspondence bureau, and it is fortunate that he has, for there has been a flood of letters received at headquarters at every mail bearing upon the state campaign.

This is regarded as a very significant feature of the canvass, for when the members of the county committees will take the pains to write to headquarters regarding the sentiment and the outlook in their respective election districts it is a sure indication that the party workers are aroused to their duty and that they will leave nothing undone to bring out a full Republican vote at the coming election.

Fully a majority of the members of the last legislature have been included among the callers at the headquarters since Senator Penrose's return, and they all agree that the record of the last session of the general assembly in the liberal appopriations to the public schools, the large sums of money set aside for the improvement of the public roads and the other meritorious measures which were passed and approved by Governor Pennypacker has met with popular approval.

THREE STATE ISSUES

State Finances, State Schools and State Good Roads Law.

DEMOCRATS CAN REVIEW THEM

Republicans, While Impressed With the Importance of the National Phases of the Campaign, Are Ready to Meet Opponents On Any Ground.

[Special Correspondence.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 6.—The Democrats who have been complaining because the Republicans of Pennsylvania are determined to impress upon the voters of the commonwealth the influence which a large Republican majority in this state next month will have upon public sentiment for the coming national election demand that "state issues" be discussed in the present canvass.

The Republican party managers last week announced that they were quite ready to meet the Democracy upon any so-called "state issue," and they now call upon the Democrats to direct public attention to the condition of the state finances as the most important state issue that can be considered at this time.

The Republican spellbinders point to the report of the state treasurer, made at the end of the month of September, showing a balance of $13,939,191.34 in the general fund of the state treasury, with every dollar of this money absolutely protected and drawing interest under the reform legislation passed by a Republican general assembly.

GOOD FINANCE AN ISSUE.

This vast sum, available for state purposes, the public schools and the charities and other laudable objects, represents in a large measure the collection of taxes from corporations. A considerable portion of this money had to be collected by suits against delinquent corporations through the attorney general and the auditor general of the state, both good Republicans.

Republicans of this state have for years pointed with pride to the fact that Pennsylvania has never lost a dollar through any Republican official and that today, as the result of continued Republican administration, her financial condition is better than that of any other state in the union.

That she has any public debt whatever is due entirely to the fact that the bonds representing the same are not due and cannot be called in. There is today in hand specially available for the payment of this public debt a sum considerably more than required to meet this obligation.

Pennsylvania is therefore "out of debt" and she has a large balance on hand to her credit.

Attempts have been made by the Democrats to create the impression that the large balance in the state treasury is being held from its natural channel. Such is not the case. All appropriations made by the last legislature are being paid promptly and as soon as other payments shall become due they will be met with the same promptness.

The revenues of the state have been extraordinarily large during the last two or three years. It is not generally known, but it is a fact, that under the laws of this state the greater the prosperity of the business interests of the commonwealth the greater will be the income to the state treasury.

Everything has been booming recently and the revenues of the state have gone up accordingly.

GOOD SCHOOLS AN ISSUE.

The assured revenues of the next two years are sufficient to meet all the appropriations made by the last legislature and to pay for the magnificent state capitol now under construction and leave a balance of several millions in the state treasury.

In the expenditures provided for during the next two years there has been allotted to the public schools the sum of $11,000,000, which is far greater than the appropriation of any other state in the union for a like purpose, and there is a new appropriation of $1,000,000 for public roads to be expended under the direction of the newly created state highway department, which is destined to give Pennsylvania the best system of good public roads in the country.

GOOD ROADS AN ISSUE.

This "good roads" legislation presents another "state issue" to which the attention of the Democrats eager for a "state issue" campaign is called.

The Republican party stands for this legislation passed at the recent session of the general assembly, which is destined to give a fixed and well considered policy for the betterment of the roads and the highways of the state, so that the means of transportation between the farm and the neighboring market may be improved.

As soon as the provisions of the new good roads law shall become better known it is predicted that it will increase in popular favor and there will be a demand for its enforcement with additional appropriations, which will come at the next session of the legislature in accordance with the plans of its Republican advocates and champions.

SIR HERBERT'S DEFTNESS.

How the Late British Ambassador Once Proved It to Roosevelt.

When the late British ambassador to the United States, Hon. Michael Henry Herbert, was secretary of the British legation in Washington several years ago President Roosevelt was on the civil service commission, says the Saturday Evening Post. They were great friends. Having common tastes in outdoor sports, they frequently spent their afternoons together. It is said that when the British government asked if Herbert's appointment would be satisfactory the president gave a shout of delight before hurrying to dictate a favorable reply.

President Roosevelt has had proof of the late ambassador's deftness in diplomacy. Returning across country one day from a baseball game, where they had been shouting for the Washington team, Mr. Roosevelt called attention to clamoring flocks of English sparrows.

"They are the enemies and tyrannical masters of nearly everything that flies—or at least that used to dare to fly—hereabouts," remarked the outspoken civil service commissioner. "I don't want to offend, Herbert, but the truth is there was too much Anglomania in the air when your sparrows were let loose upon us. They are a calamity to the country."

"They are virile and predatory," I admit," replied the diplomat, "but your country," he added good naturedly, "need have no fear so long as you maintain in your national aviary the one bird that all sparrows in our empire could not alarm."

Poet's Tribute to Poet.

I know a veteran redwood standing high
Upon a lofty cliff in Siskiyou,
Looking on hilltops reaching to the blue
And looking on bright regions of the sky.
A hundred strong young sons are ever nigh
In comrade cirque about him, to befriend
When canyons brim with quiet, to defend
When lightnings probe the dark and torrents cry.
And now I bring you, poet, on your height
Of deeds and days, a bough from that good tree
Nursed on the music of Balboa's sea—
To you now, with your hundred sons of song
Who stand about you that no power o' the night
Shall shake your steps, no star shall work you wrong.

The Navy's Winter Maneuvers.

The navy department has notified the various bureaus that maneuvers will take place in the Caribbean sea next winter, and commanding officers have received orders to prepare for the work. The strategic problems or war games in which the vessels will take part will take place in February, after the drills in routine work and marksmanship have been finished. Rear Admiral A. S. Barker will be in command.

Our Longest Word.

The longest word in the English language is proudly exhibited by the United States Patent office: "Hydrotriamidodimethylphenylacridine, under certain treatment produces a greenish-yellow color when applied to cotton. The number of the patent covering it is 395,080, granted December 25, 1888. This is the way it comes about: It is an amidobenzoflavine produced by transforming the nitrotettraamidoditolyphenylmethan of amidoditolylphenylmethaninto pentraamidoditolylphenylmethan." We have our doubts about this but will take the inventor's word for it.

Shot a Big Turkey.

H. A. Stevenson hunted for wild turkeys in the woods of East Nittany Monday and killed one. It was a big fowl, however, a gobbler that weighed 24½ pounds. This was the first turkey that Mr. Stevenson ever shot, although he is quite a hunter.

Let Everyone Help.

An effort for pure politics is being made by the Chairmen of the two great parties in the county. This is a move in the right direction and we hope the citizens will assist in making this effort effective and successful. To effect this reform the chairmen have agreed to the following.

We, the undersigned respectively Chairman of the Democratic and Republican Committees of Centre County, with a view of securing purer politics in the Boro and County elections, do hereby agree upon the following:

First: That the use of intoxicating liquors and the purchase of votes with money or the promise of anything of value have become a pronounced evil, and we therefore pledge our conscientious efforts to totally eradicate all semblance of such practice.

Second: We hereby pledge ourselves to the payment of the sum of $15.00 to the first person who makes information and secures the conviction of any person or persons of bribery or furnishing intoxicating drinks or money or anything of value to influence voters.

Third: That the Citizens of the County be requested to offer a voluntary contribution for the establishment of a fund to be used solely for the purpose of paying the reward and expense incurred in such a prosecution, or future prosecutions; said contributions to be deposited in a Bank to be agreed upon by the undersigned.

CONDEMNING PROCESS EXPENSIVE.

What it Costs to Condemn Turn Pike Roads—The County Has Paid $2716.16 for that Purpose.

A synopsis of expenses for the condemnation of the Bellefonte, Aaronsburg and Youngmanstown Turnpike Road Company, extending from the Old Fort, in Potter township, to the Union county line, in Haines township, a distance of twenty-two and three-fifth miles, is given below:

Viewers bill	$190 80
Costs of surveying pike and draft	55 82
Expenses, on day of viewing pike	14 00
Costs of witnesses to condemn	234 66
Stenographer's writing testimony	168 40
Master's fee (H. C. Quigley)	300 00
Costs in Quarter Sessions Court	21 75
Total	$982 33
Witnesses heard in condemnation	42
Days hearing testimony	6
Days viewing pike	1

Condemnation proceedings come high, but they must be had. The county has paid for this purpose something over twenty-seven hundred dollars. In addition to the costs mentioned above, the sum total of the costs incurred by various condemnation proceedings are noted below.

The entire costs in condemnation of the Bald Eagle, Nittany and Brush Valley Turnpike road, beginning near Lamar in Clinton county, ending in Miles township, at Emanuel Harter's a distance of eight and one-half miles, was $680.67.

The turnpike between Bellefonte and Milesburg cost the county $324.26.

The pike leading from Howard dam to Bald Eagle creek, a distance of three and a fourth miles, cost $453 06.

The pike from Centre Hall to Mifflin county line cost the county for condemnation about $600

No Small Pox in this Family.

For several days there have been rumors afloat to the effect that one or two children of Edis Horner of South Spring street were ill with small pox. The home of Mr. Horner is on Quaker Hill and the denizens of that thoroughfare have been shunning his house as they would a pest house.

Mr. Horner called at this office monday morning and wished us to emphatically deny the rumor. He says there is no small pox in his family and never has been. He says there is no one sick and they have had no doctor.

It is an injustice to Mr. Horner to have this report in circulation and we hope this item will put it at rest.

A Good Day's Hunt.

One of the most successful hunts reported to us so far this season was that taken Tuesday by Messrs. T. W. Kramer, R. H Kramer and George Lopeberger, the scene of their operations being Brush Valley.

They were after squirrels and they got them in great number. They arrived in Bellefonte on the 4:20 train and their string of squirrels numbered just 37, everyone of them a gray squirrel.

They went down to J. A. Fishbinder's photograph gallery where they had their pictures taken with the squirrels strung over their backs. Squirrel pie will be trump in their families today.

Rev. G. R. Penney who has been engaged in Missionary work in the Barbado Islands for a number of years, returned to the West Indies last Friday after spending several weeks here visiting his family.

The Hon. Alfred Thompson, Ex-School Director and senior member of the mercantile firm of Thompson, Irwin & Co., relaxed his strenuous business activity to attend a convention—or no, I guess he went hunting this trip—yes, he and Robert and "Bounce". It seems they killed a fox and Mr. Thompson has been excited—very much so—ever since and well might he feel nervous after an encounter with that bold denizen of the forest (the fox) in its native haunts. Mr Thompson's excited state of mind does not, as yet, permit his giving the full particulars of his escapade to the public; but Robert (although only 12 years old Robert is very brave) who takes the matter a great deal more coolly says that they were out beyond "Bapp" Shank's when it suddenly became evident that Bounce, who was quite a distance ahead, had raised some game. After listening to the dog's barking for a moment or so Robert could hear that the sound was rapidly drawing nearer—so rapidly in fact that he thought it must be approaching on horseback. He turned to his father, who was just beginning to realize that "somethin' was doin' ", and exclaimed, "Look out! Pop, she's acomin' whereupon "Pop" hastily retired behind a tree which was handy—to load his gun as he afterwards explained, although he neglected to take the gun with him——and waited breathlessly, while on came Bounce, yelping with fright—— ?——yes, fright for just then he came into sight, tearing along the path with a little red fox, close at his heels, in hot pursuit. Robert drew back into the bushes and administered the contents of his shot-gun to the pursuer, as it passed him—which crippled it; then Mr. Thompson heroically sallied forth, got his gun, and emptied both barrels into the poor victim's brain. Prof. R. L. Heaton viewed the carcass and pronounced it to be a specimen of the vulpes fulvus, commonly known as the red fox.

OAK HALL.

Miss Minnie Kline, who has been ill with pneumonia the past two weeks is improving slowly.

Mrs. Mary Stem and little daughter returned to Altoona last week.

Al Knoff has recovered from the small pox under the strict medical attention of Dr. W. S. Glenn of State College, but is still quarantined.

A number of our people are unable to work not from the effect of the small pox but from vaccination. The vaccination for fever has been running at a high rate the past two weeks.

Mrs. Bible's condition is serious Dr. J. Y. Dale, of Lemont, is her medical attendant, she is the only small pox patient in this community at present every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the dread disease, even the public road has been closed, in the small pox district and all traveling must be done by way of the Mountain road leading down to the station.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bailey and little daughter, of Altoona are visiting Mrs. Bailey's parents at this place.

Miss Gertrude Homan is at present at State College.

A Handsome Funeral Car.

About ten months ago Undertaker Hardman P. Harris in order to be abreast of the times ordered a new funeral car from the Crane & Breed Mfg. Company of Cincinnati, Ohio. The firm sent a special representative here and with Mr. Harris they designed what gave promise of being the finest wagon of its kind in Central Pennsylvania. The car was shipped about three months ago but somewhere the other side of Pittsburg there was a freight wreck and it was smashed to pieces.

The company at once notified Mr. Harris and set about re-building an exact counterpart of the wrecked hearse. It arrived in Bellefonte on Thursday of last week and was at once taken to Mr Harris' undertaking establishment on Howard street.

A reporter for the REPUBLICAN examined the car Saturday morning and found it to be all that is claimed for it. It is undoubtedly one of the handsomest and at the same time the costliest funeral car ever brought to Bellefonte. The wood work is exquisitely carved and finished partly with a dead finished, partly smooth finish and presents a striking appearance. All the metal work on the hearse proper is silver mounted. Lamps of a handsome design, silver mounted are on each side of the seat and also silver plates with the word "H." The wagon has all the latest improvements and is expensively draped and lined. The old hearse which has been used by Henry Harris and his son H. P. for many years has quite a history. It has conveyed to their last resting place some of the most distinguished citizens of our town, including among the number, two ex-governors, Curtin and Hastings.

KILLED A BEAR.

Jasper Brooks of Pleasant Gap the Star Hunter of These Parts.

Jasper Brooks, of Pleasant Gap, while out hunting Saturday afternoon shot and killed a large black bear that when brought to Bellefonte and placed on Philip Beezer's scales tipped the beam at 230 pounds. It is a dandy and Mr. Brooks is very proud of it and the other hunters in this neck of woods are green with envy.

Mr. Brooks was hunting on the Nittany Mountain back of Sam Noll's farm when he came upon the bear. He fired and the bear retreated up the hill. The charge struck the bear under the right shoulder and inflicted a mortal wound. The dogs followed and soon had the bear treed. Mr. Brooks fired again and put an effectual quietus to Mr Bruin.

The indications are that bear are going to be plentiful and they certainly must be when one would venture so close to a town as this one.

The bear was on exhibition all day Monday at Beezer's meat market and hundreds of people viewed and admired it.

FALL OPENING DISPLAY OF PIANOS.

Our most interesting display of all the latest designs of High Grade Pianos as well as Organs in piano case, chapel and parlor style, a showing which has never been equaled here, which means it will be well worth seeing.

PUSHING UP BUSINESS

by pushing down prices is the one way to succeed, so long as merit is not sacrificed. We think we have attained "the golden means" by keeping up quality in Pianos and giving prices a gentle push downward. You won't think it—you'll know it when you see and hear our instruments and learn our prices.

We offer this week a number of excellent Pianos just returned from rent. They were new when they went out and have been in use only a few months. A special price will be made on them.

We have also a large line of all the well known makes of Organs at special bargains, $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 and upwards suited for homes and school purposes. Organs to rent at moderate prices. Call or address

DOWIE'S BIG CRUSADE

Plan of Zion City's Leader to Evangelize the World.

NEW YORK BUT THE BEGINNING.

Elijah III. Explains Object of Invasion of the Metropolis by Zion Restoration Host—Has Eight Thousand Volunteers Under Vow to Obey. Only Three Thousand Taken to New York—Names a Prince as His Supporter—Some of Dowie's Characteristics.

For the first time in nine years John Alexander Dowie, the founder of Zion City and general overseer of the Christian Catholic Church of Zion, talked with a reporter of the Chicago Tribune about his plans to evangelize the world. He said the invasion of New York by the restoration host was only the beginning. Hugh Stuart Fullerton, who obtained the interview in Dowie's own home in Zion City, declares that the Zionist leader gave him in confidence proof that a prince, who will some day be "a power in a great nation," is a follower of the Zion City prophet.

When asked what he expected to accomplish on the New York trip, Dowie replied:

"God alone can answer that question. My hopes are high, but how much God wishes me to accomplish I cannot say. We have prepared ourselves for this invasion. We have trained our hosts in the work. All that we, as human beings, can do we have done. The harvest is with God. If he wills it—and the answer to my prayers leads me to believe our visitation is under divine guidance—we will accomplish great things—great things that will lead on to greater things."

"After New York?" I began.

"New York is but the beginning. After New York the world. Zion shall ascend the steps of thrones and will dictate to monarchs and presidents of nations and tell them that the law of God must be obeyed everywhere.

"You wanted me out of Chicago, but I love Chicago. Perhaps Chicago may yet be saved. The idea of spreading Zion over the world was in me when in our little No. 1 tabernacle down in Sixty-second street. We began the fight then. I did not know how far God wanted me to go forward with the work. He has sustained me thus far, and now I believe he means me to do more.

"It has been a long fight against unfair enemies. We have preached and practiced peace, and we have suffered blows. We have bowed to law when courts were poisoned against us. We have preached obedience to the law even when it was wrong, and we have won. I believe God meant us to win. Down in the little tabernacle in Chicago when there were but few followers I saw Zion City thrown on the canvas of the future. Now I see great cities on the American coast of the Atlantic ocean and on the Pacific ruled by the law of God.

"January I hope to start around the world with a little company of four. My wife will start with a party in the opposite direction. We will learn much, and we will see many of our followers in other lands. Until that trip is ended no further definite plans can be announced."

Suddenly his face saddened.

"You cannot," he said, "you cannot see as I see. Christ to me is so real. He is so near. To me he is more real than to you and nearer. This world seems so pitiful, so sad, with the people so steeped in sin, so sunk in darkness, with his dear face to light it. Time seems so short. Naturally and calmly, in thirty years at the outside, I must pass away, perhaps in a week or a month or a year, and there is so much to be done."

"What provision have you made for death?" I asked. "Who will be your successor and what will be done with the money?"

"My successor is provided; God has one ready to take my place. I have made a will as regards the disposition of the Zion estate, which I legally own and absolutely control. All Zion knows what is in it."

The will briefly stipulates that 95 per cent of all the buildings of John Alexander Dowie shall go to the church, the other 5 per cent to his family, and of that 5 per cent a certain amount is to be given to the church each year.

"I live well," explained Dowie. "I enjoy many comforts, but I do not spend my income, and I give a great part of that to the church. I make a generous allowance to my wife and to my son, and they give liberally to the church. My personal fortune is comfortable. I have made it legitimately. I have fleeced no one.

"We are not socialists here in Zion. Every person is paid according to his worth and services. My work is heavy, my responsibility great, our enterprises have been successful, and in proportion to my services I am not overpaid.

"Considering that, I do not see why Chicago is opposed to me. I and my followers spend millions of dollars in Chicago. We did spend more when we were located there, for thousands came and did their shopping there, but Chicago drove us out, and if Chicago does not look out we'll quit buying there altogether.

"You were a bad boy, and you lost many good stories by being naughty. Why I have a first page 'scare' head, double leaded story right in my house now. If you will promise 'pon honor' not to print it, I'll prove it to you."

And, having killed my hope of a "scoop," he told me, and he had it too.

He showed me Zion's connection with a live prince. That prince is a follower of Dowie, and some day he will be a great power in a great nation. I remembered then that Dowie had said, "Zion shall ascend the steps of thrones."

Gradually I drew him back to the New York trip.

"We are not asking New York for anything," he continued. "We are offering every one in New York an opportunity to embrace the law of God. We ask nothing. Already we have platted New York and assigned to every commander of seventy and every captain of ten a district. The host has studied for months the special maps of New York in our tabernacle. We have trained the host in its work. We have in all 8,000 volunteers in all parts of the world under vow to obey should I call on them for service. Only 3,000 have been ordered to New York.

"Zion restoration host will visit every home in the city. The work will be hard in New York because of the high flat buildings, but Elder Lee, who is the recorder of the host, has perfected every plan. He will explain everything to you."

Afterward Elder Lee explained. I saw maps of New York, in printed sections, and each section was allotted to a commander of seventy and subdivided among the captains of tens. Each morning while the host remains in New York it will attend the half past 6 o'clock morning services, then take breakfast, and each captain of ten will lead his party into his district. He will take a street and cover three sides of each block facing that street for many blocks. Having started his ten to work, the captain will station himself on the corner of the next block and perhaps hold a short service until that block is finished. If tall flat buildings delay part of the workers, the first arrivals at the captain's post will assist him in the service.

Dowie as a religious enthusiast, Dowie as a shrewd business man, Dowie as a home man, is impressive. In his home he is serene, calm and considerate. He admires his wife and has made her partner in everything. Nor is Overseer Jane Dowie a force to be overlooked in Zion. She is a motherly woman, calm eyed and peaceful, intelligent and devoted to her husband. In their family life they seem perfect.

Another revelation of Dowie's character was made later in his library. There, surrounded by books, he is at home, and the student shows out all over him. On the shelves of his library are works in Sanskrit, in the almost unknown by name languages of India, great volumes of Chinese writings, and these Dowie reads.

When he cannot read a language he either learns it or summons one of his followers, who are recruited from almost every race—and there are more than fifty nationalities represented in Zion City—and has it read to him. Dowie converses with his Chinese adherents intelligently and fluently. He is an authority on Chinese history and literature.

"Where does this man go to learn these things?" I asked of his right hand man later.

He told me Dowie works eighteen, twenty, sometimes twenty-four, hours a day, tireless, sleepless and sustained by his immense physical energy. He has worked as many as forty hours with scarcely a stop even for meals. He has preached and prayed all day and all evening and then, returning to his office, written all night to fill the editorial columns of the paper that Zion prints.

This work he will delegate to none, believing that most of his converts have been reached through Leaves of Healing.

Returning to the subject of the New York trip, Dowie said:

"The object of the campaign will be to preach the word of God as revealed to me as messenger of his holy covenant and to establish another tabernacle for the worship of God according to the Christian Catholic faith of Zion, the only true and authentic revelation of his divine will.

"I truly believe that the divine blessing will rest upon my efforts and that the church universal will triumph over sin and the devil. I shall preach the gospel of Christ, an opening for salvation for all who repent of their sins, leave all to follow him, trust and obey our Lord Jesus Christ and receive his word as spoken by me, as Elijah and messenger of the covenant.

"I ask the prayers of every man and woman in New York that this may be accomplished."

"Will the members of the host preach? What will they say when they visit the people?"

"Some will preach and pray, but the host are instructed not to enter into any religious argument with any one. No person ever was converted to anything by wrangling. The host will simply call at the doors, extend the message of Christ and place in the hands of some member of the family a card of greeting which we have printed.

"An invitation will be extended to each to come to our meetings. Further than that the host will do nothing except when opportunity offers to aid some sufferer or pray with the sick, if requested so to do. They will ask nothing and receive nothing."

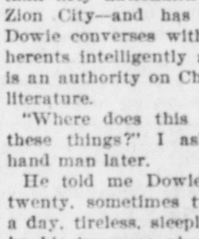
I asked Dowie regarding his title, Elijah the Restorer, and this is what he told me:

"The name is not a title; it is reality. I firmly believe, in common with tens of thousands of my followers, that I have been sent by God in the spirit and the power of Elijah as the third and last manifestation of that prophet."

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.



It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root and the address on every bottle Binghampton, N. Y.

FARMING FOR CHILDREN.

New Departure In Public School Education In Missouri.

Nearly 5,000 school children in Missouri are receiving instruction this year in the primary courses of agriculture, says a Columbia special dispatch to the St. Louis Republic. More than 100 teachers who attended the Missouri university last summer and took the course in agriculture and horticulture are giving instruction in those branches in the public schools this year with excellent results.

In the teaching of these branches to public school students special attention is paid to beautifying the school grounds and the yards and lawns of the children's homes. The school yard is planted in flowers, trees and shrubs and under the direction of the teacher is cultivated by the students. The teachers find that the students take great interest in the work, and they encounter very little difficulty in continuing the course.

It has been the aim of the Missouri university to encourage the teaching of agriculture in the public schools, and the efforts of the university are now achieving results. By next year agriculture and horticulture probably will be taught in a majority of the public schools of the state.

A series of bulletins is in course of preparation which will be sent out to the teachers to be used as text books in the public schools.

YELL OF FARMER STUDENTS

Missouri Boys Choose Class Cry Both In English and Latin.

Missouri university has an agricultural yell, says a Columbia special to the Chicago Record-Herald. It can be uttered in both English and Latin and was adopted at a specially convened meeting the other day. Several yells were submitted, but this was the most popular:

Horses, cattle, sheep and hogs,
Turkeys, chickens, ducks and dogs!
Feed 'em, fatten 'em, make 'em thrive;
Agriculture, nineteen five!

An agricultural student who is also making a specialty of the classics sprang an innovation by submitting the same yell in Latin. The suggestion was adopted with enthusiasm, though a few English words were found necessary for euphony. It goes like this:

Evis, oris, bos et sus,
Zey, mais, et triticus.
Agriculture may shrive;
We're the class of nineteen five!

Novel Test For Trumpeters.

The latest development in the walking craze in Paris is a proposal made by M. Rispal, chief trumpeter of the Association Nationale de Preparation Militaire, that all trumpeters in Paris, military and civilian, shall march from Paris to Versailles, playing without stopping the ten regulation marches of the French army, says the New York Herald. As the route is eighteen kilometers long and contains a couple of stiff hills only people with strong lungs can hope to qualify.

Almost Strangled.

One day my little brother, aged four years, having had a pair of band garters made for him which were too tight, came into the house crying:

"Oh, mamma, my garters are choking my legs!"

Good Roads Worth Money.

There are at least five ways in which good roads will put money into the farmer's pockets or prevent its being spent wastefully; for a good road will economize time and force in transportation between farm and market, it will enable farmers to take advantage of market fluctuations in buying and selling, it will permit transportation of farm products and purchased commodities during times of comparative leisure, it will reduce the wear and tear on harness, horses and vehicles and it will enhance the market value of real estate.

Turkeys will be High.

With Thanksgiving about six weeks distant, comes the report from the poultry raising district that turkeys will be unusually scarce and higher in price than for some years.

A few straggling live turkeys have already reached the city, looking thin and careworn, and have been promptly picked up in a wholesale way at 18 cent per pound. Frozen dressed turkeys by the box and barrel are difficult to get even at 22 cents a pound.

As wet and rainy weather means sure death to the young turkeys, the damp and moist summer absolutely demoralized the infant turkey industry.

Thanksgiving turkeys this year will be luxuries, and the retail price per pound may be 30 cents.

Birth-marks which mark and mar the outside of the body are a grief to every mother whose children may bear them. But for every child who bears a birth-mark on the skin there are many who bear an indelible birth-mark on the mind. Nervous mothers have nervous children and many a man and woman owes an irritable and despondent temperament those days ofdread when the mother waited the hour of her maternity. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the mother for her trial. With strength comes buoyancy of spirits and quietness of mind which is one of the happiest gifts a mother can bestow on her offspring. By giving vigor and elasticity to the delicate womanly organs "Favorite Prescription" practically does away with the pain of maternity and makes the baby's advent as natural and as simple as the blossoming of a flower. There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic contained in "Favorite Prescription."

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD TRAIN PORTERS.

A popular feature of the through trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad which leave New York daily for the West at 7.55 a. m. and 1.55 p. m., and leave Pittsburg daily for the East at 3.00 a. m. and 7.30 a. m., are the train porters stationed in the day coaches.

Their duty consists of keeping the cars clean and rendering whatever service passengers may require. The Pullman porter has long since demonstrated his usefulness; the Pennsylvania Railroad train porter serves the ordinary coach passenger in the same capacity as the Pullman porter serves those who ride in parlor and sleeping cars.

The day coaches on the above-mention trains, as well as those on trains leaving New York at 5.55 p. m. daily for the West and leaving Pittsburg at 7.10 p. m. daily for the East, are equipped with lavatories, in connection with which the services of train porters are especially convenient.

APPROVAL REFUSED.

Rev. George F. Kettell Has Call to Be Rector of Christ Church at Palmyra, N. J.

MARRIED A DIVORCED WOMAN

Because of This Bishop Scarborough Refused to Approve and the Clergyman Vacated the Pulpit.

THE PARISHIONERS ARE DIVIDED

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., October 17.—A matter that may become a celebrated case in the Protestant Episcopal church in America became public Friday when announcement was made that Bishop John Scarborough, of the diocese of New Jersey, had refused to approve the call to a church within his jurisdiction of a clergyman who was married to a woman that had been granted a divorce from her first husband, also an Episcopal clergyman.

The case is that of the Rev. George F. Kettell, formerly assistant rector of Christ church, Baltimore, and his wife was originally Miss Bessie Broughton, of Pocomoke City, Md. She married the Rev. Clarence Frankel in February, 1900, and six months later they moved to Nebraska where her husband was a missionary. Later she secured a divorce in South Dakota on the grounds of non-support, unfaithfulness and cruelty. She then came back to Pocomoke City, became acquainted with the Rev. Mr. Kettell, and the couple were married on July 29 last by Rev. Charles A. Hensel, vicar of Grace church chapel of Baltimore. Shortly after this Mr. Kettell resigned from Christ church.

Christ church at Palmyra, N. J., about ten miles from Philadelphia, offered the rectorship of the church to the young rector on the recommendation of Bishop Scarborough before he was married. He accepted after informing the vestry of the church that he had married a divorced woman, but when he went to Trenton, N. J., to get the approval of the bishop, which is necessary when a clergyman of the church goes from one diocese to another, he was refused. The disappointed rector notified the vestrymen at Palmyra, vacated the pulpit and accepted a position as instructor in the Episcopal academy in this city, pending the settlement of the controversy.

The parishoners of Christ church took up the matter and appealed to the bishop to reconsider his decision, but this he would not do. Meetings were held at the church and the parishoners finally became divided, a majority, it is said, decided to take the view of Bishop Scarborough. Some of the more ardent supporters of Rev. Mr. Kettell want to take the matter to the civil courts and it is said this will probably be done.

SPENT MORE THAN $1000.

W. W. Baker of Plainview, Neb writes: "My wife suffered from lung trouble for fifteen years. She tried a number of doctors and spent over $1000 without relief. She became very low and lost all hope. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and thanks to this great remedy it saved her life. She enjoyes better health than she has known in ten years." Refuse substitutes.

Be Careful.

Every year we hear of accidents happening through the careless handling of firearms and as the hunting season opened Thursday every person who hunts should be careful how they shoot. Don't get excited and shoot hap-hazard in any direction, especially if your hunting companions are close by. Don't shoot into the brush when you see them shake thinking there is game there, it may be a hunter. Be sure you know what you are shooting at before you shoot, and don't carry the hammers of your gun at full cock, for remember that a very light touch sets them off. A small twig striking the trigger may discharge the gun, and a companion walking behind you may receive the contents. Above every thing else, when hunting, be careful.

DIETING INVITES DISEASE.

To cure Dyspepsia or indigestion it is no longer necessary to live on milk and toast. Starvation produces such weakness that the whole system becomes an easy prey to disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that one cares to eat, and is a never failing cure for indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Kodol digests what you eat—makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

FOR FIREMEN'S RELIEF.

Irvin A. Hahne, of Hope Hose company of Lock Haven, who is one of the most active workers in the interest of the fireman in the state; prepared and read an interesting paper before the State Fireman's association at Allentown, upon the advantages of the firemen's relief fund provided by the taxation of foreign fire insurance companies in Pennsylvania. A few extracts from Mr. Hahne's paper are here given.

"The advantage derived by the firemen of Pennsylvania from the receipt of the 1 per centum paid to the city and borough treasurers of this state, and by them the treasurers of our Relief associations through ordinance of Council, have been many. It has results in the formation and maintenance of Firemen's Relief associations in the cities and boroughs throughout the Commonwealth; has been the indirect cause of the establishment of firemen's unions in many places, and these unions have been the means of doing away with all friction, jealousy or animosity between any of the companies comprising the fire department, and has created the best of feeling among the firemen.

"The advantages derived by the firemen through the Relief associations are: The receiving of relief if one is maimed or disabled through injury or exposure while discharging his hazardous and onerous duties in the fire services. It provides a revenue whereby his wife; children or dependent ones will be cared for if he is killed. It insures for him a decent burial at death, and furthermore, it provides a pension for those who have served faithfully in their respective fire departments for a number of years, or have become incapacitated or too old and infirm to continue in the service.

"Those who are opposed to pensioning firemen, or have any inclination to use this 1 per centum for any other purpose than that for which it is intended, have very little knowledge of the immense importance the firemen play in the social economy of the country—that the life and duties of a fireman are without a parallel in any other department of the city government—or they are devoid of heart, greedy for gain or laboring under the delusion that a Relief association is simply a money grab. The men in the fire departments of this state are faithfully serving their respective communities and their services are most acceptable when the men are in their prime of life; as they run a risk of life and limb, and injury to health every time the fire alarm sounds, it must be acknowledged that when they are too old to give that service, or become broken in health from exposure, or receive injury, it is commendable and of great advantage to the fireman to receive assistance.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

by local applications as they cannot reach the disease portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Fatally Injured on Saw Mill.

Edward Noll, while at work for the Surveyor's Run Lumber company, at Surveyors Run, Clearfield county, on Monday, was so seriously injured by being struck by a board thrown from an edging machine that he died Tuesday night. He was a son of W. C. Noll, of Madisonburg, and was 26 years of age. His father and brother Thomas went to Clearfield Wednesday morning and brought his remains to Madisonburg that evening. A sorrowing widow is left to survive.

Children Work on Farms.

Through portions of Eastern Berks and Western Lehigh counties laborers are unusually scarce and farmers are experiencing no little difficulty in harvesting their crops. This effects the public schools, as pupils are kept home to work on the farm. Several teachers have less than a dozen pupils, and there is one school at New Bethel church, Albany township, which has had but a single pupil since the opening of the term.

The above relates to a condition of farm life that prevails in nearly every section of the Commonwealth, and is the cause of driving hundreds and thousands from farm homes to engage in pursuits that offer condit ons easier and more profitable. Not only is the scarcity of labor one cause, but the State adds to this hardship by imposing an average tax levy on farms of 16 mills as compared with 3 mills on personal and corporate property. The farms in Pennsylvania are taxed, on an average 12 per cent. of their gross earnings, which is the cause of homesteads being abandoned at a sacrifice, and a system of landlordism established, which is gradually leading the country on to the oppressed condition of farm tenantry and Ireland.

Made Bonfire of Non-Union Window Frames.

As a sequal to the refusal of union bricklayers to continue work on the addition being built at the Rishel furniture factory because of the fact that the window frames used were made by alleged non-union shop, over $100 went up in smoke in a field near Third and Grier streets Friday evening, says the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

The Building Trade's Council took the frames, forty-six in number, and each one worth over $2, and will pay for a simular number which will be made by McGraw Brothers, who use the union label. The frames were piled high and fired by a committee representing the council, while a crowd of two or three hundred persons stood by and watched the destruction of the alleged non-union products.

The bricklayers will now resume work, the Rishel firm loses nothing, the union firm gets an extra order and the union men pay for the bonfire.

Granted a Road.

In compliance to a petition from Potter township made to the court, viewers were appointed to lay out a road beginning at a point in the public road at or near the line between John R. Lee and William Boal and ending at Sinking Creek bridge at the Mulbarger saw mill. The viewers appointed were S. Kline Woodring, Esq., surveyor, Bellefonte; Potter Tate and Albert Smetzler, Pleasant Gap, and on Tuesday they performed their work. There being no objections, the road was granted.

The main object in view of the petitioners was to connect a road leading by John T. Smith with a public road, in order that those living in that section might be served by rural free delivery.

The road, three hundred and thirty-five rods in length, as laid out, passes through the lands of the following persons: John R. Lee, Wm. Boal, Wm. Jordan, Andrew Jordoan, Samuel Swartz, Frank Hosterman, R. Lingle, Frank Lingle, John T. Smith.

Two Interesting Marriage Licenses.

It is seldom that such extraordinary events occur in the marriage license business as came before clerk A. G. Archey in the court house Thursday.

The first unusual incident was the appearance of George Armstrong Jacobs, of State College, who is 77 years old and took out a license to marry Catharine F. McElwain, of Howard, who is 67.

The other case was one in which a woman stopped in the Prothonotary's office and lifted a decree in divorce that had just been granted her and then stepped right across the hall and took out a license to get married to another man.

Weighs 22 Ounces and Lives.

A 22-ounce baby, so tiny that a cigar box would make for it a roomy cradle, and that could be placed out of sight in a quart tin, came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John King, Eberton; York county, last Friday. The baby, a girl, is one of the smallest ever born to ordinary sized parents.

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

"I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption," says C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champaign, Ill. "I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, not since." C. M. Parrish.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS.

Centre County Nimrods Hie Themselves to the Woods.

The hunting season opened Thursday and the woods and mountains are full of our local sportsmen hunting for game. There is a still hunt for good dogs, hounds in particular seeming more scarce than in previous years. Old timers say that game will be plentiful this year and they are looking forward to a good season's sport.

The following timely information on the game laws of the state should be carefully read by all hunters not fully conversant therewith:

This is the beginning of the hunting season, and on and after the 15th of this month all kinds of game can be killed legally, by the proper methods, excepting the hare or rabbit, and elk, deer, or fawn. These are protected until the first of November. The legal season does not open before the 15th of this month for the following game: English mongolian, and Chinese pheasants, ruffed grouse, (commonly called "pheasant" or "Partridge,") quail or Virginia partridge, wild turkeys, woodcock and squirrels. The kinds of game that can be hunted during the first half of this month as well as during the last are the following: Rail and reed birds, doves, web-footed wild fowl and plovers. There is no legal limit for the number that a person may legally kill in a day or during the season for the following: True (imported) pheasants, doves, hares and rabbits (but not to be hunted with ferrets. (rails and reed birds, web-footed wild fowls, squirrels and plovers. Elk, deer and fawn, two in one year; ruffed grouse (commonly called "pheasants") and also woodcock, ten in one day, quail or Virginia partridge, 15 in one day. No other legal limits are placed than those given here.

All persons should be familiar with the law relating to trespass, a part of which we will quote: Section 1. Be it enacted, That on and after the passage of this act, any person or persons trespassing on any cultivated lands in this commonwealth, for the purpose of hunting and trapping and taking therefrom any game, bird or game animals, after public notice by the owner, lessee or occupant thereof, such notice to be posted on and adjacent to such cultivated lands, shall be guilty of wilful trespass and in addition to the damages recoverable by law shall be liable to the owner, lessee or occupant in a penalty not exceeding five dollars for each and every such offense.

ACADEMY-vs-PHILIPSBURG.

The Boys on the Hill Wins An Easy Victory over Visitors.

The Philipsburg eleven drove over to Bellefonte on Saturday and played foot ball with the Academy boys on the Fair Grounds. The game was played in the rain before a fair sized crowd of enthusiasts and resulted in favor of the Academy team by a score of 20-0. The home team showed superiority in every point of the game, every member of the eleven filled his position well. Two touchdowns were made in each half by Sauers, Weaver, Gephart and Leathers, respectively, and were made by the excellent interference that characterizes the Academy's playing. This year the game of the season which every football lover should witness will be played at the Fairgrounds next Saturday at 3 p. m. between the Lock Haven Normal and the Academy. Two weeks ago the Academy held this eleven down to one touchdown on the Lock Haven grounds. The home boys expect to redeem themselves this coming Saturday.

The Lock Haven coach recently spent a week at Princeton gathering in points. An interesting contest is assured.

THE CONDITIONS OF THE CONTEST.

The publisher of the Bellefonte Republican has determined to give away absolutely free, to some deserving church, chapel or Sunday school in Centre county a handsome Chapel organ. With this end in view he entered into a contract with M. C. Gephart the well known piano dealer of Bellefonte for the purchase of a "Burdett" Chapel organ, manufactured by the well known piano firm, the Hobart N. Cable Company of Chicago, Ill. The organ will be on exhibition in the store room of M. C. Gephart on South Allegheny street.

The Bellefonte Republican has decided to ask its patrons to select by vote as to what church, chapel or Sunday school shall have the organ. The method of voting is as follows:

Newspaper coupons—A blank ballot or coupon will be printed in each copy of the Bellefonte Republican and the name can be filled in same for whatever Church, Sunday school or religious organization you may want to vote. These votes should be sent into this office at once, as they will not be counted after they are six weeks old, and the date any number of each will appear on them.

Premium Coupons:—Any parsons who sends in a NEW CASH subscriber to this paper can get a Premium Coupon entitling him to four votes for each month paid or 50 for a full year. No subscriptions will be received for less than six months. Our regular subscribers by paying their subscription in advance will receive a Premium Coupon that will entitle them to 2 votes for each month paid 25 votes for a full years.

Mrs. Rebecca Emerick.

Widow of John Emerick, of Centre Hall, died on Thursday evening, 8th, at 7 o'clock, at the home of her son Geo. Emerick, three miles east of Centre Hall where she had been the previous three days, having had her home heretofore with her son, Dr. Emerick, at Centre Hall. The cause of her death was a stroke of paralysis. She was born at Farmers Mills, and her age would have been 80 years on the 5th of next March. Her husband died ten years ago. She is survived by the following children: George, Samuel, John Luther, Dr. Charles, Harvey, Mary and Oscar. Two children are dead, Alfred and one that died in infancy. She was a devoted member of the Lutheran church, and a most faithful wife and mother. She was a sister of Geo. and David Krape, both deceased. Funeral on Sunday last was largely attended, interment in the cemetery at Centre Hall.

—Michael Shurr, of Jersey Shore, has accepted a position as barber with Frank Sasserman of this city.
